

Enso Discoveries, LLC a Manhattan, Kansas biotech company signs an exclusive agreement with the leading Chinese Veterinary B2B company headquartered in Beijing, China

With the Chinese veterinary market seeing explosive growth, Enso Discoveries and its industry leading partner LPET, the country's leading source for veterinary E-Mall, Diagnostic Laboratory Services and Software, can help your company service 50 million Chinese pet owners.

Let Enso Discoveries, LLC help you navigate and enter the explosive Chinese Veterinary market!

Chairman and CEO Derek Jiang, along with Co-CEO Jun Yang of LPET (E-Mall, Diagnostic Laboratory Services, and Software), are excited to announce an exclusive partnership with Enso Discoveries, LLC of Manhattan, Kansas. Chairman Jiang states that “we are very excited to have reached an agreement with Enso Discoveries, LLC and Patrick Farley, Enso CEO/President.

LPET and Enso Discoveries, a fast growing Kansas biotech company, has been successfully doing business together in China with great success. Farley, Jiang and Yang have also spent much time in each other's respective countries gaining a better understating of the explosive Chinese pet market and the opportunities that exist for American companies.

Co-CEO Jun Yang say that “Patrick Farley has spent many years working internationally in the Veterinary field for world class companies like IDEXX Laboratories. We feel his successful International experience, along with the many relationships he has formed over the years, will help bring many new technologies and ideas to help LPET.” Farley states that “with over 50 million pet owners and an explosive pet market anticipated to grow at 40% a year or more, it is an amazing time to enter China.”

Enso Discoveries brings a proven track record of setting up a successful business partnership in China and can now help other American companies navigate this process. Enso Discoveries is fully supported by LPET for this opportunity to work with you from start to finish. We can now help you understand why the many “not so good stories of the past” doing business in China, will be greatly mitigated by using Enso Discoveries to help walk you through the process.
